

Bring in some colour!

GETTING OVER THE BLUES

Ever noticed how many schools have a chronic case of the blues? For decades, navy blue has been so dominant in education furniture that it seems like thousands of classrooms have faded into a vague shade of gray.

Many new and renovated schools are going for a different look. In addition to increased natural light and better air circulation, more and more campuses now have furniture with bright, eye-catching colours. These changes help create a livelier, more stimulating environment for students, teachers and administrators.

Colour can be about the same old thing...or mixing things up and having fun! With a large standard palette of plastic seating components and table laminates, The Accent Group gives you the tools to let your school express itself in welcoming, creative colours. And if that includes navy blue, great; but from now on, you've got a lot more options!
